

Dasa Sila (The Ten Precepts) in Buddhism

15 May 2026

Dasa Sila (The Ten Precepts)

Theravada Buddhism has two different versions of Dasa Sila (The Ten Precepts)

Dasa Sila (The Ten Precepts)

Dasa Sila (The Ten Precepts) Ending with Wrong View/micchā-ditthiyā

George D. Bond explains in Pali Buddhism in the Chapter Theravada Buddhism's Two Formulations of the Dasa Sila and the Ethics of the Gradual Path on page 17

“Theravada’s texts and commentaries contain two formulations of the dasa sīla which differ at important points.”

Dasa Sila (The Ten Precepts)

- 1) Panātipata veramani sikkhapadam samadiyami
- 2) Adinnadana veramani sikkhapadam samadiyami
- 3) Abrahmacariya veramani sikkhapadam samadiyami
- 4) Musavada veramani sikkhapadam samadiyami
- 5) Sura meraya majja pamadatthana veramani sikkhapadam samadiyami
- 6) Vikala bhojana veramani sikkhapadam samadiyami
- 7) Nacca gita vadita visuka dassana veramani sikkhapadam samadiyami
- 8) Mala gandha vilepana dharana mandana vibhusanautthana veramani sikkhapadam samadiyami
- 9) Uccha sayana maha sayana veramani sikkhapadam samadiyami vibhusanautthana
- 10) Jatarupa-rajata-patiggahana veramani sikkhapadam samadiyami

Dasa Sīla (The Ten Precepts) with Diacriticals

- 1) Pāṇātipātā veramaṇī·sikkhāpadaṃ samādiyāmi.
- 2) Adinnādānā veramaṇī·sikkhāpadaṃ samādiyāmi.
- 3) Abrahmacariyā veramaṇī·sikkhāpadaṃ samādiyāmi.
- 4) Musāvādā veramaṇī·sikkhāpadaṃ samādiyāmi.
- 5) Surā·meraya·majja·pamādaṭṭhānā veramaṇī·sikkhāpadaṃ samādiyāmi.
- 6) Vikāla·bhojanā veramaṇī·sikkhāpadaṃ samādiyāmi.
- 7) Nacca·gīta·vādita·visūka·dassana·
- 8) Mālā·gandha·vilepana·dhāraṇa·maṇḍana·vibhūsanattṭhānā veramaṇī·sikkhāpadaṃ samādiyāmi.
- 9) Uccā·sayana·mahā·sayanā veramaṇī·sikkhāpadaṃ samādiyāmi
- 10) Jātarupa-rajata-patiggahanā veramaṇī·sikkhāpadaṃ samādiyāmi

Dasa Sīla (The Ten Precepts)

- 1) I undertake the Precept to refrain from killing and injuring living beings
- 2) I undertake the Precept to refrain from taking that which is not given
- 3) I undertake the Precept to abstain from all sexual activity and non-celibate conduct
- 4) I undertake the Precept to refrain from false and harmful speech
- 5) I undertake the Precept to refrain from drink and drugs which fuddle the mind and reduce mindfulness

6) I undertake the Precept to abstain from eating at improper times

7) I undertake the Precept to abstain from dancing, singing, music, shows

8) I undertake the Precept to abstain from wearing garlands, using perfumes, and beautifying with cosmetics

9) I undertake the Precept to abstain from the use of high and large seats and beds

10) I undertake the Precept to abstain from accepting gold and silver

Dasa Sila (The Ten Precepts)

Dasa Sila (The Ten Precepts) are taken by novice bhikkhus [monks] and by lay nuns and lay people. Novice monks always take the Ten Precepts as a group.

See page on this website Lay Householder Precepts and Monastic Precepts weblink <https://www.buddhistgroupofkendal.co.uk/lay-householder-precepts-and-monastic-precepts/>

Giving The Ten Precepts

The Ten Precepts are only given by bhikkhus. In Sri Lanka lay nuns who have taken the Ten Precepts never give the Ten Precepts. In Women under the Bo tree: Buddhist Nuns in Sri Lanka Tessa Bartholomeusz explains on page 159 "Though lay nuns can give the five and eight precepts to their own pupils and patrons...they never give the ten. All the lay nuns I interviewed agreed on this point.", and on page 162 "Though the lay nuns give the five precepts to each other and to their dayakas, they never give the ten."

Dasa Sila (The Ten Precepts)

In The Seven Stages of Purification and The Insight Knowledges Venerable Mahathera Matara Sri Nanarama explains on page 5

"Male and female lay-devotees have five precepts as a permanent standard of virtue in their everyday life. If they are more enthusiastic, they can undertake and keep the 'eight precepts with livelihood as the eighth' or the ten lay precepts, or the eight precepts recommended as the special observance for Uposatha days."

In A Buddhist's Manual Venerable Hammalawa Saddhatissa and Venerable Pesala explain in the Chapter Devotional Stanzas on page 7

"....some devout Buddhists feel able to adhere to the Ten Precepts..."

In Basic Principles of Burmese Buddhism Sao Htun Hmat Win describes the Dasa Sila (Ten Precepts) on page 28 as Ten Precepts of Laity

"The Upasakas who are unable to observe the rules of the Monastic Order, lead the semi-monastic life entails by perpetual observance of the Ten Precepts of Laity. The Upasaka shall approach a monk to request the counselling of Ten Precepts."

In Buddhist Precept and Practice: Traditional Buddhism in the Rural Highlands of Ceylon Richard F. Gombrich explains on page 79

"In fact, although to do so is theoretically possible, no one takes the Ten Precepts for a limited period of time.... Laymen (male) who take the Ten Precepts (dasa sila upasakayo) wear white. They may be 'home-dwelling' (gedara inna or grhastha) or 'homeless' (anagarika)....in the way of morality the Ten Precepts sum up all that is asked of a Buddhist."

In Theravada Buddhism Richard F. Gombrich explains on page 73

"...in the [Pali] Canonthere are also a few cases of laymen who lived religious lives very like those of monks without actually joining the Sangha. They took Ten Precepts, the same ten as are undertaken by novices, this meant that they lived in complete chastity and renounced all economic activity, like monks. One such man, Ugga, even preached.

In Buddhism Transformed: Religious Change in Sri Lanka Professor Richard F. Gombrich and Gananath Obeyesekere explain on page 25

"By tradition, these ten precepts are taken by two categories of person. They constitute the code of conduct of novices.... The ten precepts are also taken by a few elderly people...who then habitually wear white clothes and spend most of their time in religious activities, usually at temples.

In The Buddhist Revival in Sri Lanka, Religious Tradition, Reinterpretation and Responses, George D. Bond explains

"The... set of precepts, now called dasa sila by Buddhists, actually is called in the texts the ten sikkhapadas, or training precepts, for those entering the Buddhist community, especially as monks or nuns. The code of precepts...is called by the early texts the dasa sila, or ten items of good Buddhist character. At some point in the development of the Theravada tradition the ten sikkhapadas began to be termed the ten silas. The substitution of the sikkhapadas for the silas is documented in texts such as the Jatakas. After this substitution took place, traditional Theravada...recognizing the ten training precepts .as the code to be followed and affirmed by laity and monks alike in Buddhist rituals." (pages 224-225).

In Women under the Bo tree: Buddhist Nuns in Sri Lanka Tessa Bartholomeusz explains on page 9

"The precepts of the householder are a variant of the ten precepts of the bhikkhu and bhikkhuni... Occasionally, very devout laymen and laywomen abide by the ten precepts for extended periods of time, though the way that the laity 'takes' the ten precepts differs from the way monks recite them....The majority of contemporary lay nuns, unlike most laity, abide by the ten precepts for life.

In Women under the Bo tree: Buddhist Nuns in Sri Lanka Tessa Bartholomeusz on pages 73-74

"Although the ten precepts of the laity and the clergy [bhikkhu and bhikkhuni] each share the same number and order, the content is different, as the placement of the verb distinguishes the precepts of the clergy [bhikkhu and bhikkhunī] from those of the laity. ...According to late nineteenth-century newspapers...a Buddhist defined the differences between the two categories of precepts: 'There are two types of sil [precepts]. Sil observed by laymen is called gihi sil [householder precepts], while the other sil the bhikkhus observe is pavidi sil ['going forth'] precepts.... In contemporary Sri Lanka, all members of the monastic order who undergo final initiation recite the ten precepts of the world-renouncer: the pavidi dasa sila. In this process, the novice monk recites each precept, but rather than repeating the verb after each of the ten, he chants 'samadiyami', or 'I undertake to keep' after he has recited them all. Thus, though each of the ten precepts is chanted separately, they are regarded as one entity. Therefore, if one is 'broken', all are so considered. On the other hand, with the inclusion of 'samadayami' after each precept of the householder, each of the ten remains a separate entity...Therefore, it is considered 'easier' to maintain the 'householder' as opposed to the 'going forth,' precepts. ...it is not unknown for the very pious householder to chant them in the style of the 'going forth' precepts, albeit if only five are repeated. However, as it is the layperson who recites the five in this manner, they are not referred to as 'going forth' precepts, but rather as 'householder' precepts. The newspaper article explains further: In the day to day life of the layman, it is natural to break the five precepts. But he can always renew them by observing them again. If he has observed sil by saying the five precepts as one – panca sila sikkhapadan samadiyami – and breaks one precept, the other four also break. In the same way, if he has observed the five precepts separately and breaks one of them, he could renew his sil by observing that one only. [Note 28 "Sil," Dinamina, 22 February 1900.]

In An Introduction to Buddhism: Teachings, History and Practices Professor Peter Harvey explains on page 278

"There is also a set of ten precepts, the same as those observed by novice monks (Khp.A. 22-37). Here, the seventh precept is split into two, and there is an additional undertaking to 'abstain from accepting gold and silver', precluding the handling of money. Unlike the eight precepts, the ten precepts are only taken on a long-term basis. A few Theravada men, usually elderly, permanently follow them and wear white or brown. A greater number of women [lay nuns] do so."

In An Introduction to Buddhist Ethics: Foundations, Values and Issues Professor Peter Harvey explains on page 88

"An extension beyond the eight precepts is found in the ten precepts. These are the same as the eighth except that the seventh is split into its two parts, and there is the addition of an undertaking to 'abstain from accepting gold and silver'. While the difference seems a small one, in practice it is large, for the ten precepts are not taken temporarily, but only on a long-term basis....The extra precept precludes the actual handling of money as in the case of monks. The ten precepts are those observed by novice monks. A few elderly Theravada men permanently follow the ten precepts and wear white, but a greater number of women [lay nuns] do so....In Sri Lanka, the ten precepts of the householder are seen as easier to maintain than those of the novices as the lay person takes them individually, so that all are not broken if one is, whereas novices take them as a group..."

In An Introduction to Buddhist Ethics: Foundations, Values and Issues Professor Peter Harvey explains on page 82

In Southern Buddhism, the commentator Buddhagosa held that a lay person can take a set of precepts either as group or individually. If they are taken individually, a breach of one does not breach the set, and the whole set becomes effective again as soon as the broken one is retaken. If a set of precepts is taken by a group as a lay person, Buddhagosa holds that the same situation pertains, though he cites some as holding that the breach of one precept breaks the undertaking to hold to the set (Khp.A. 28).

The Illustrator of the Ultimate Meaning (Paramatthajotikam) Part I: Commentary on the Minor Readings by Bhadantacariya Buddhagosa, explains in Chapter II The Ten Training Precepts (Dasasikkhapadam) on pages 23-24

“18 ‘By undertaking’ these training precepts...are undertaken by a novice only when undertaken in the presence of a bhikkhu. But they are undertaken by a lay follower either when he undertakes them by himself or when he does so in another’s presence; and they are undertaken by him when undertaken together or undertaken separately. Now when someone undertakes them together, his abstinence is single and his choice is single, though they are described individually according to their [several] functions. But when someone undertakes them singly, the abstinence is fivefold and so is the choice, it is understood. That is how the explanation should be known by undertaking.”

19. ‘By breach’: in the case of novices, when one is broken all are broken...In the case of householders, when one is broken then only that one is broken, and consequently the fivefold-ness of their virtue becomes effective again as soon as that one alone is reundertaken. Some others, however, have said that ‘When they have been undertaken separately, then, on one being broken, only that one is broken. However, when they have been undertaken thus ‘I undertake the virtue possessed of the five factors’, then when one is broken the rest are all broken too – Why? Because of the unity of the undertaking-; but the responsibility for action resides only in the one actually transgressed’. That is how the explanation should be known by breach.”

Bibliography

Books

Bartholomeusz, Tessa. Women under the Bo tree: Buddhist Nuns in Sri Lanka. 1994. (Cambridge, Cambridge University Press). (Cambridge Studies in Religious Traditions Series 5). (ISBN 0-521-46129-4).

<https://www.cambridge.org/core/books/women-under-the-bo-tree/D47DEA710633069F5D80666596900EE9>

<https://archive.org/details/womenunderbotree0000bart>

Bond, George D. The Buddhist Revival in Sri Lanka: Religious Tradition, Reinterpretation, and Response. 1988. (Columbia USA, University of South Carolina Press). (Studies in Comparative Religion Series). (ISBN 0-87249-557-4).

Internet Archive

<https://archive.org/details/buddhistrevivali0000bond/>

<https://archive.org/details/buddhistrevivalinsrilankareligioustraditionreinterpretationresponseqeorgebondq.929.W>

Bond, George D. The Buddhist Revival in Sri Lanka: Religious Tradition, Reinterpretation, and Response. 1992. (Delhi India, Motilal Banarsidass Publishers). (Studies in Comparative Religion Series). (ISBN 81-208-1047-3).

Gombrich, Richard F and Obeyesekere, Gananath. Buddhism Transformed: Religious Change in Sri Lanka. 1988. (Princeton, New Jersey USA Princeton University Press). (ISBN 0-691-07333-3 hardback).

<https://archive.org/details/buddhismtransfor0000gomb/>

Gombrich, Richard F and Obeyesekere, Gananath. Buddhism Transformed: Religious Change in Sri Lanka. 1990 reprint of 1988. (Delhi India, Motilal Banarsidass Publishers). (ISBN 81-208-0702-8).

<https://archive.org/details/buddhismtransfor0008rich>

Gombrich, Richard F and Obeyesekere, Gananath. Buddhism Transformed: Religious Change in Sri Lanka. 1990. (Princeton, New Jersey USA Princeton University Press). (ISBN 9780691019017 paperback).

<https://press.princeton.edu/books/paperback/9780691019017/buddhism-transformed>

Gombrich, Richard F. Buddhist Precept and Practice: Traditional Buddhism in the Rural Highlands of Ceylon. 1991. (Delhi India, Motilal Banarsidass Publishers). (ISBN 978-81-208-0780-8).

<https://www.mlb.in/products/buddhist-precept-and-practice-traditional-buddhism-in-the-rural-highlands-of-ceylon-richard-f-gombrich-9788120807808-8120807804>

Gombrich, Richard F. Buddhist Precept and Practice: Traditional Buddhism in the Rural Highlands of Ceylon. 1995. (Delhi India, Routledge Taylor and Francis Group). (ISBN 9781138987999).

<https://www.routledge.com/Buddhist-Precept--Practice/Gombrich/p/book/9781138987999>

Gombrich, Richard F. Precept and Practice: Traditional Buddhism in the Rural Highlands of Ceylon. 1971. (Oxford, Oxford University Press) (ISBN 0198265255).

<https://archive.org/details/preceptpracticet0000gomb/mode/2up>

Gombrich, Richard F. Theravada Buddhism: a social history from ancient Benares to modern Colombo. 1988. (London, Routledge). (ISBN 0-415-07585-8).

Gombrich, Richard F. Theravada Buddhism: a social history from ancient Benares to modern Colombo. 2006. (2nd edition) (London, Routledge). (ISBN 9780203016039).

<https://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/mono/10.4324/9780203016039/theravada-buddhism-richard-gombrich>

<https://archive.org/details/theravadabuddhis0000gomb>

Harvey, Peter. An Introduction to Buddhism: Teachings, History and Practices. 2013. (Cambridge, Cambridge University Press). (ISBN 978-0-521-85942-4 hardback ISBN 978-0-521-67674-8 paperback).

<https://www.cambridge.org/highereducation/books/an-introduction-to-buddhism/9CA7B749D45ABAAB372422AEEE863A97#overview>

<https://archive.org/details/anintroductiontobuddhispeterharvey>

Harvey, Peter. An Introduction to Buddhist Ethics: Foundations, Values and Issues. 2000. (Cambridge, Cambridge University Press). (ISBN 0-521-55394-6 hardback ISBN 0-521-55640-6 paperback).

<https://www.cambridge.org/core/books/an-introduction-to-buddhist-ethics/9813D1B3D65333E686B3ED528C70B972>

<https://archive.org/details/introductiontobu0000harv>

Hoffman, Frank J. and Mahinda Deegalle (Editors). Pali Buddhism. 1996. (Richmond UK, Curzon Press). (Studies in Asian Philosophy Series). (ISBN 0-7007-0359-4).

Bond, George. D. Section I Philological Foundations, Chapter 1 Theravada Buddhism's Two Formulations of the Dasa Sila and the Ethics of the Gradual Path.

https://archive.org/details/palibuddhismmahindadeegallefrankhoffmanj.sunnynum_357_J

Hoffman, Frank J. and Mahinda Deegalle (Editors), Pali Buddhism. 2016.(UK, Routledge). (Studies in Asian Philosophy Series). (ISBN 0-9781138994737).

Bond, George. D. Section I Philological Foundations, Chapter 1 Theravada Buddhism's Two Formulations of the Dasa Sila and the Ethics of the Gradual Path.

<https://www.routledge.com/Pali-Buddhism/Hoffman-Mahinda/p/book/9781138994737>

Hammalawa Saddhatissa, Venerable, and Pesala, Venerable. A Buddhist's Manual. 1990. (2nd edition) (London, British Mahabodhi Society).

https://openlibrary.org/books/OL15542485M/A_Buddhist%27s_manual

Win, Sao Htun Hmat. Basic Principles of Burmese Buddhism. 1985. (Yangon [Rangoon], Myanmar [Burma], Department of Religious Affairs).

https://openlibrary.org/books/OL1064902M/Basic_principles_of_Burmese_Buddhism https://openlibrary.org/authors/OL569445A/Htun_Hmat_Win_Sao.

BPS Buddhist Publication Society Kandy Sri Lanka

<https://www.bps.lk/>

BPS Books

http://www.bps.lk/library_books.php

The Seven Stages of Purification and The Insight Knowledges. Venerable Matara Sri Nanarama Mahathera. 1993 (2nd edition). (Kandy Sri Lanka, BPS Buddhist Publication Society). (BP506S). (ISBN 978-955-24-0059-9).

https://www.bps.lk/olib/bp/bp506s_Nyanarama_Seven-Stages-of-Purification.pdf

PTS Pali Text Society

The Minor Readings (Khuddakapatha) The First Book of the Minor Collection (Khuddakanikaya), Translated from the Pali by Bhikkhu Nanamoli, Chapter 2 The Ten Training Precepts page 1-2, The Illustrator of the Ultimate Meaning (Paramatthajotikam) Part I: Commentary on the Minor Readings by Bhadantacariya Buddhagosa, Translated from the Pali by Bhikkhu Nanamoli, Chapter II The Ten Training Precepts (Dasasikkhapadam) pages 17-36. 2015 reprint of 1960. (Oxford, Pali Text Society).(ISBN: 978-0-86013-023-9)

<https://palitextsociety.org/product/the-minor-readings-and-the-illustrator-of-ultimate-meaning/>

<https://palitextsociety.org/the-books-of-the-pali-canon-the-commentaries/>

<https://archive.org/details/PaliCommentariesCollection/>